

BILL STRACHAN – CONSULTANT (FOOD & DRINK)

I'm primarily employed at Polaris Learning Ltd as a training consultant but I'm also getting involved with providing consultancy on HACCP, Food Safety Management, Meat Science and Animal Welfare.

I've spent most of my life in the food industry from working in the fish industry to working most recently as a Technical Manager. The last 16 years I have specialised in meat hygiene, meat science and technology and food safety.

I am a qualified lead auditor (ISO 9001:2008), a qualified meat inspector (with 6 years experience) and I also hold an MSc in Meat Science and Technology.

I recently gained my REHIS Advanced HACCP Certificate and I am currently undertaking my REHIS Advanced Food Hygiene Diploma.

My interests outside of work are:

- My family
- My guitar
- Reading thrillers
- And researching the history of meat inspection and veterinary public health (sad I know!)
